A Touchstone Energy® Cooperative

Annual meeting, capital-credit refunds both in April

ON THURSDAY, APRIL 30, Blue Ridge Electric Cooperative will host its 75th annual meeting. Seventy-five years is certainly a long time. I hope you'll be there to participate in this historic occasion.

As I prepare this report, the property in and around our Pickens equipment facility, where the meeting is to be conducted, is a beehive of activity. Construction crews are erecting a new operations center and nearby restrooms, all in order to ready our site for the big day. By the time April 30 arrives, the work may not be totally done; but I have every assurance that plenty will have been accomplished so the event can go forward with the benefits of these new improvements.

There are two activities at Blue Ridge Electric Cooperative that drive much of our yearly work effort. These are our annual meeting and preparations for storms and major outages. For many years, there had been some realities that made it difficult to hold our annual meeting. One problem—there hasn't been enough close, convenient parking. Blue Ridge Electric needs to have at least five percent of its members registered for our annual meeting each year, and our lack of suitable parking has made that more difficult.

Providing sufficient restroom facilities for this large annual gathering had also been a challenging and expensive proposition. Having adequate concession stands to service the thousands who attend the meeting had also, for a long time now, been both inconvenient and complicated. This construction project will address these and other shortcomings in a comprehensive and effective way.

I regret that the parking question won't be totally addressed in time for this year's meeting; I do have every expectation the parking situation will be much-improved for 2016.

Our other major concern, which this project addresses, is that of a new operations center to assist with the cooperative's response to storms and major outages. This operations facility will also function as an outage-restoration center, whenever Blue Ridge is confronted with winter-storm emergencies. The operations facility will provide space to house and feed visiting linemen that the cooperative may need to utilize during a major outage. When the cooperative experiences such an emergency, we depend on manpower assistance from our fellow cooperatives and from contractor organizations.

The cooperative's management had originally sought board approval for this building project back in 2007. However, we put the plans on hold for more than seven years because of the deep downturn in the economy. Now that Blue Ridge is again experiencing some growth on our system, we're glad to see these improvements under way.

As I wrap up my April report, I'm pleased to call attention to the $1,000,000 in Blue Ridge capital-credit checks that are to go into the mail this month. These represent margins the cooperative earned in 1986 and 1987, and will be sent out to those who were Blue Ridge members in either or both of those years. This refund—which enjoys the strong support of the cooperative's board of directors—brings the total sum of patronage capital returned to members to $23,200,000. These regular capital-credit payments offer solid evidence that Blue Ridge is operating in conformity to its not-for-profit status.

Capital credits and the annual meeting are two of my favorite subjects. I'm proud of this latest refund, and I'm really looking forward to seeing you when we come together on Thursday, April 30.

Blue Ridge Fest—Great Times for Great Causes

ON MAY 8, music lovers, car enthusiasts and anyone looking for a night of fun will want to be at the 18th Annual Blue Ridge Fest on Main Street in Pickens. With a lineup of great entertainment, hundreds of classic cars on display, and wonderful food, Blue Ridge Fest will begin at 6 p.m.

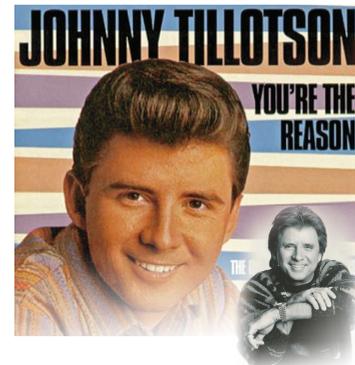

First to take the stage will be The Swingin' Medallions, a group that sold more than a million copies of their famous release, "Double Shot of My Baby's Love." Our next entertainer will be Shirley Alston Reeves with the Shirelles, performing their popular '60s hits such as "Soldier Boy" and "Will You Still Love Me Tomorrow."

This year's headliner is two-time Grammy nominee, Johnny Tillotson, singing his top tunes, including "Poetry in Motion" and the self-penned, "It Keeps Right On a-Hurtin'."

Blue Ridge Fest holds the distinction of being one of the leading charity fundraisers in Upstate South Carolina. Over the past 17 years, this event has raised more than $1.8 million for local charities. "The idea behind Blue Ridge Fest came from the volunteer spirit of our employees and their wish to help people in their communities," Blue Ridge Co-op President and CEO Charles Dalton explains.

Tickets are still $25 and $15 for children with a discount for tickets purchased in advance. Classic cars with a carload of up to four are admitted for $30. For more information visit blueridgefest.com.

Fest sponsors give generously

Many loyal sponsors make Blue Ridge Fest a priority year after year, while others are making 2015 their inaugural event. We appreciate all they contribute to the success of Blue Ridge Fest and thank them for seeing the needs around them and responding with such generosity.

World-Famous Chuck Wagon Gang will entertain at the 2015 Annual Meeting

THE CHUCK WAGON GANG has entered its 79th year of singing the old songs, and singing them the way “Dad Carter” taught his kids. A simple style, yet distinctive sound, is credited with helping preserve the legacy of the music so many love. While time has brought much progress and development, the Chuck Wagon Gang has continued to strum and sing its way into the history books as being the oldest recording mixed quartet that has continuously recorded what has come to be known as “grass-roots” Gospel music. Over the years, the group has managed to record more than 800 songs and sell 40 million records worldwide. Much of those songs and records were recorded with Columbia Records, now Sony Music. Many of the songs recorded in 1936, the group’s first year, are still being sung in concerts across America today.

The great Chuck Wagon Gang standards, classics, and most requested songs are still featured at today’s Chuck Wagon Gang concert, and their simple approach remains intact. There can’t be a Chuck Wagon Gang concert without “The Church in the Wildwood,” “Higher,” “I’ll Fly Away,” “Echoes From The Burning Bush,” “I’ll Meet You In The Morning,” “Looking For A City,” and others in this vein. But as with any singing group, new songs, new recordings, and freshness must prevail.

The purpose of the 3rd-generation Chuck Wagon Gang is to not only preserve and continue the grand legacy of the group, but to be a relevant and viable ministry of the Gospel through song. While the music certainly has its entertainment value, the real impact is the spiritual message of hope and grace for the listener. The style and sound of the Chuck Wagon Gang is intact, but the message is pertinent for today.

The Annual Meeting entertainment will begin with a performance by the Sweet Potato Pie Kids, a group of talented young people that are part of the Young Appalachian Musicians. Following them, a local bluegrass group, the Silver Dollar Gang, will take the stage presenting music from their latest CD’s “Nickle and Dime” and “Leaving Town.”

Please join us for a great night of entertainment on Thursday, April 30, at the Blue Ridge Electric Co-op annual meeting. ☺

Today’s group consists of Shaye Smith, Julie Hudson, Stan Hill, Jeremy Stephens, and Joe Rotton. The quartet still maintains the clear, uncluttered sound of pure music that established them in the mid-’30s. Four voices and one guitar and an acoustic bass is all it takes for this evergreen foursome to transport the listener to another place and time where life was a bit simpler.

The year in review

LAST JANUARY, the Blue Ridge board of directors conducted a comprehensive evaluation of the co-op's 2014 performance. That evaluation spotlighted some results that testified to another very successful year of operation.

▶ Safety & training—employees again ended the year without recording a lost-time accident. Aug. 31, 2011, was the date the last such accident occurred. Employee wellness continued to take forward strides, with the general health of the workforce reaching a new all-time high. No accidents and healthier employees translated into lower operating expense in 2014.

▶ Financial—the co-op's per-kwh price remained unchanged, while all financial obligations were met. Year-end margins came in at a comfortable but not excessive level, and there was further improvement in equity. Careful control of costs contributed to a positive bottom line.

▶ Construction & maintenance—eight large Engineering Work Plan projects were completed, adding further strength to the co-op's massive distribution system. Much of the year was devoted to construction of the Port Bass transmission line and substation, which were both energized in February 2015. These system additions have brought a higher scale of service to many members in Oconee County's southwestern corner.

▶ Service reliability—use of fault indicators, strategically located sectionalizing devices, and back-feeding procedures all helped to keep the average system-wide outage time on backbone feeder lines to just one hour. Right-of-way maintenance on primary power lines included full work on 310 miles, partial work on 76 miles, and herbicides applied on 970 miles. A robust vegetation-management program is essential to dependable service and is also helpful in limiting the impact of storm emergencies.

▶ Economic development—Blue Ridge, through use of its Rural Development Act funds, had opportunity to assist two Upstate job-creating projects. Both projects, one in Anderson County and the other in Oconee, involved land purchases for future industry sites. The two tracts are each located within the cooperative's assigned service territory. Because RDA dollars represent tax obligations that have been deferred by the state, members' electric bills are unaffected by these grants.

▶ Member service—the cooperative's team of member-service employees kept open the lines of communications with members last year. More than 200,000 telephone calls were answered, saving callers the inconvenience of having to navigate an automated phone menu. Thousands of in-office encounters and online messages were also processed each month. The transition to six monthly billing cycles empowered each individual member to select a certain and consistent billing date upon which to receive the electric bill every month.

▶ Capital credits—Blue Ridge returned $1,000,000 in capital credits to its members in 2014, and another $1,000,000 in payments is scheduled to be mailed this very month. Members who were on the co-op system in 1986 and/or 1987 will receive their pro-rata share of these soon-to-go-out patronage-capital checks. Total refunds have now reached more than $23,200,000, and this board is committed to maintain this regular cycle of payments, which has continued unbroken now for 33 consecutive years.

▶ Community service—co-op and Blue Ridge Security Solutions employees again volunteered their time to conduct another Blue Ridge Fest charity fund-raiser. Net proceeds from the event totaled $172,000 and were divided among 12 local human-help organizations. Since 1998, Blue Ridge Fest has raised $1,800,000 to go toward these and other worthy causes. Blue Ridge members registered $420,000 in prescription-drug savings in 2014 by way of the Co-op Connections Card. Pharmacy discounts for participating members since the program's inception climbed to $2,944,000.

After every yearly board evaluation of the cooperative's performance, one truth never fails to manifest itself—Blue Ridge keeps getting better at what it does. Our workforce is endowed with a mission that seeks to exceed member expectations. This board of directors gives its hearty endorsement to that mission. We trust our members are seeing that reality through the quality of the service they receive. ☺

And the winners are...

THANK YOU for making the Bolts of Brightness awards program so successful. We have received many wonderful stories and heartwarming accounts of people helping people, causes and responding to the needs put before them. It will be a difficult task to narrow the field, but we will announce the winners in the coming weeks.

Each of the 75 Bolts of Brightness winners will have a donation of $500 given in their honor to the organization or cause they represent. This is an appropriate way to say thank you for the selfless giving of these special community members.

Blue Ridge Electric Cooperative has been an important part of the Upstate for 75 years, and we are very excited to include these recognitions as part of our 75th anniversary celebration. ☺
